MARCH:

ATTENTION PARENTS/FAMILIES AT GAB:

Teachers are requesting that you join the Remind app so that they can communicate with you.

Parents please stay in contact with your child's case manager. Teachers are trying to make sure that they have the correct email and phone number to contact you? School staff have forwarded their office/classrooms phones to their personal phones.

Please feel free to contact me if you have not been in touch with your child's teacher :

An Update from our Superintendent

This week has fast-tracked us into E-Learning, and we are rising to the challenge. Our teachers are reaching out to each family on a regular basis to ensure that students have technology access and equipment per their IEPs and classroom use. We have gathered a repertoire of free services and websites that align to Standards. We have continued Common Planning sessions and staff meetings using Teams and Zoom. We are taking care of each other and our families. This week is Paraprofessional and Residential Advisor Appreciation Week at GAB. Attached find an artifacts that bears witness: The circle is unbroken! We're in this together.

Residential Advisors do so much to support our students at GAB on a daily basis.

Not only are RAs expected to help maintain an orderly and reasonably quiet living environment for students, but they enforce the rules of the residential cottages. In addition, they act as role models, mentors, community builders, aids in personal care, and tutors.

We thank you for all you do at GAB!

Summer enrichment geared toward blind youth :there is a twist that sets my camp apart from typical camps, my camp is for blind kids AND is open to their sighted siblings, friends and peers. We function as any other camp except the activities are adapted to accommodate and highlight the special abilities of our blind children.

An intensive camp for visually and hearing impaired children that is based at Ivy Green, the birthplace of Helen Keller in Tuscumbia, Alabama. A family member must accompany the student.

Dates: Arrive on Thursday, October 1st by 3 pm and leave on Sunday, October 4th, 2020.

Ready for a summer adventure?

The BlazeSports All-Star Summer Camp is the only overnight adaptive sports camp in Georgia for youth with physical disabilities. This camp is an incredible opportunity for youth 7-18* with physical disabilities to learn and experience a wide variety of adapted sports, meet other individuals with similar disabilities, become more independent and have a summer experience to remember!

Youth eligible for camp must have a physical disability such as cerebral palsy, spina bifida, acquired brain injury, dwarfism, amputation, spinal cord injury, visual impairment, muscular dystrophy or other related physical disabilities.
